Christian Psychoanalysis – Spirit and Pedagodgy of the Oppressed
By Shomit Sirohi

I. Spirit and Spiritual – Lessons from Christ's Spiritual Nature

In fact Christ produces miracles in the Graeco-Roman period which in modern period is seen as objective cure – that in the Bible it argues, Christ healed a woman of distress by water on her head and leaves in her room finally is Spirit and Spiritual understanding that pure things in Messianic spirit heal best which means that spirit in the sense of her life's spirit was weak, but then received gifts which made her happier, and the grief, and difficulties of life clear up by Christ's guidance. He solves each question of her life.

What then is the problem and what is its answer at each point, and this produces the Spiritual healing process – spirit is uprising.

II. Pedagodgy of the Oppressed – Friere

Imagine concentric circles of health, Marx and Christian life and humanity, even mankind on the above story –

It is organised as the absolute in Sirohi – which is the absolute happiness found in suffering and pain as the measure taken which fears the future but is also inspired by his good help and absolute developments finally of Hebrew language, poetry in Urdu and Arabic, and even cures which abound in his mind from Buddhism, or even daily physician ideas – all of this is uprising in each step and moment of a broken circle.

Christ in his story then heals in the sense of uplifting people in this way.
